

STATE OF KENTUCKY IN A BAD PREDICAMENT

Has a Governor De Facto and a Governor De Jure.

ALL LEGAL AUTHORITY DIVIDED BETWEEN THEM.

Goebel Recognized by the Legislature and Courts and Taylor Has Charge of the Treasury and the Militia—Legislators Were Not Permitted to Visit the Capitol Grounds Today—All Public Buildings Filled With Soldiers—Taylor Sent His Attorney to Goebel's Sick Room This Morning and Overtures of Some Sort it is Reported Were Offered—Chief Justice Hazelrigg, Who Took Goebel's Oath of Office, Has Been Warned That His Life is in Danger—Goebel Was Reported to be Sinking at Noon.

Frankfort, Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—Gov. Taylor appealed to President McKinley for aid today. He sent a message to the president telling him that the state authorities were unable to command peace.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—An nine o'clock this morning Mr. Goebel's condition showed considerable improvement. He asked for ice and apollinaris water, and it relieved him.

Goebel's condition is much worse at eleven o'clock. It is stated that he is slowly losing consciousness.

At two o'clock Goebel's doctors announced that they fear blood poison is setting in and that every remedy has been tried to repel it, so far without success.

At 3 o'clock Goebel was still sinking. Dr. Hume says the end is near.

Send For the Mountaineers

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—It is reported here this morning that a train of eleven coaches had been sent to the mountains to bring down the mountaineers who came here twelve hundred strong last week and terrorized the city.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—Kentucky today faces a case of mixed pickles in state affairs. Goebel is recognized as the only legal governor by the democratic legislature, the penitentiary officials and the court of appeals. Taylor is recognized as the lawful governor by the rest of the state officials, the state guard and the republican members of the assembly.

New Democratic Leader

Goebel can pardon convicts and sign the bills adopted by the democratic members of the assembly. Taylor has charge of the state funds and the militia. He can sign bills passed by the republican legislators.

Goebel, being at death's door, all official moves supposed to come from him must of necessity be planned and executed by the democratic leader. Hendrick of Paducah, seems to have taken the temporary leadership.

General Collier would not permit the legislators to enter the state house grounds this morning, saying that there was no necessity for it, as the assembly had adjourned to meet in London.

Some of the legislatures of both parties are leaving the city for home.

Taylor Remains in His Office.

The republican steering committee has mapped out no plan of action for the republican members between now and next Tuesday when they meet in London. Taylor remained in the executive office again last night.

All public buildings are again filled with soldiers today. Numerous cannons have been placed in position and are carefully guarded as if it were expected they would be called into use at a moment's notice.

A new company of militia arrived this morning from Taylor's home.

Republican Offer Overtures.

Taylor sent his attorney to the Capitol hotel today to confer with Goebel's attorneys. It is unknown what overtures were made from Taylor's side. The Goebel leaders regard this as republican weakening. The militia is less active today. Yesterday's stirring scenes in the streets were not repeated.

Quiet and apparent friendliness prevailed as the democrats and republicans conversed together in the hotel lobby. The democratic leaders conferred but made no announcement for publication.

Chief Justice Hazelrigg of the court appeals, who administered the oath to Goebel, has been warned that his life was in danger.

Ex Gov. Bradley Keeps in Hiding

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—Ex-Gov. Bradley remains as if a prisoner in the statehouse. He has not left there since the shooting of Senator Goebel, and it is admitted by both the warring factions that the feeling against him is intense. Gov. Taylor's house looks like a fort in state of defense. A full company of infantry is stationed there, with sentinels lined along the fence, at each door of the house and even at the outhouses. It is but a few steps from the capitol grounds to his home, but he is never seen abroad without a closely marching squad of soldiers around him.

Goebel Better This Morning

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—The condition of Senator Goebel at 6 o'clock this morning was better than at any time during yesterday. He was resting comfortably and no unfavorable symptoms had appeared. He seemed to have gained some strength during the night. He was very low about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and a report was sent out that he was dead. The physicians this morning said that he will not live, and expected him to die during the day.

THE ASSASSIN IS STILL UNKNOWN.

Not a Glimmer of a Chance That He Will be Caught.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—There is not a glimmer of a chance that the assassin of Goebel will be caught. There is not a thread to which the fabric of a clue could be attached, and the state authorities admit that they are utterly at sea. The local police are conducting an investigation without any basis for procedure, and it is expected as certain that the would-be murderer will never be caught unless his comrades see fit to betray him. Many conflicting statements are being circulated as to the number of shots fired and whence they came. Jack Chinn is sure there were five shots fired, but does not attempt to guess whence they came.

Sensor Frazer and Eph Lillard both think the shooting came from the third window of the west wall of the executive building. The sharpshooter was ambushed behind some empty boxes at the end of a hall, fired his rifle quickly and ran down the stairs into the groups of armed men in the lower halls. This is the consensus of opinion from those who saw and heard the events of the tragedy.

LONDON ONLY A SMALL VILLAGE

surrounding Country All Republican—Legislature in Taylor's Power

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1.—London is a thriving little mountain town in eastern Kentucky. It has perhaps 800 inhabitants, with a couple of hotels, several churches and good schools. It is about 180 miles from Louisville, on the Knoxville branch of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, and is thirty or forty miles from Jellico, Tenn. It cannot be reached except by the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

London is the county seat of Laurel, one of the strongest republican counties in the state and the whole section is republican. The democratic members of the legislature, if they meet here, would be in the power of Gov. Taylor, as the whole community is republican and bitterly partisan at all times and under all circumstances.

TROOPS A SOURCE OF TROUBLE

Militia Preparing For Apparently Extended Stay.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—It is certain that the militia will not at once obey the orders issued by Gov. Goebel, and any attempt to force them to do so will almost certainly result in trouble. Some of the officers intimated today that they would not obey the orders to leave, although they were careful not to say so in specific terms.

Indications around the statehouse today were not such as to warrant any belief that the troops now there intended to move away during the day. Supplies of clothing and food were being received and unloaded and everything seemed to warrant the assumption that the troops were to stay for a time, at least.

The regiments of the guard have lately been reorganized and are for the most part made up of republicans and the personal followers of Gov. Taylor.

POWER OF PRESIDENT TO ACT.

McKinley Not Anxious to Take a Hand in Kentucky.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Interest in Washington still centers in the deplorable situation in Kentucky, and there are grave fears that the action of Governor Taylor in proclaiming martial law and adjourning the legislature to meet at London, Laurel county, has added fuel to the fire.

President McKinley and his advisers are more than anxious to be spared the necessity of interfering in any way, and of course will not do so unless the authorities of Kentucky request interference in the interest of domestic tranquility. Besides by the provision in the constitution, which gives the president authority to restore peace if the trouble now threatened gets beyond the control of the state authorities, he has ample authority under the federal statutes to take steps to bring order out of chaos.

If developments should make it necessary to send troops to Kentucky there are plenty stationed at Fort Thomas, Fort Sheridan, Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, and at forts in the south and Mississippi Valley, which could be poured into Frankfort within a few hours.

STRANGERS WERE IN THE OFFICE

State Superintendent Burke Regrets the Shooting of Goebel

Newport, Ky., Feb. 1.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction John Burke, from whose office the shot that felled Senator Goebel was supposed to have been fired, was seen at his home today. He was not in Frankfort at the time of the shooting. He said:

"I am all broken up over the report that the shot was fired from my office window. Monday night two well-appearing gentlemen asked permission to sleep in my office over night, claiming they could not get hotel accommodations. They were permitted to do so. I think I could identify the men."

GOEBEL TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Issues Proclamation as Governor of State of Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—Kentucky now has two governors, each claiming the full de facto and de jure powers of the office. William Goebel, fighting death in his room at the Capitol Hotel, a martyr to his political ambition was given the oath of office as governor by Chief Justice Hazelrigg at 9 o'clock last evening.

The oath was administered to him as the result of the action of the democratic members of the legislature, who signed a resolution declaring Mr. Goebel and J. C. W. Beckham the rightful executive officers of the commonwealth.

Propped up in his bed Mr. Goebel took the oath of office and immediately signed a proclamation disbanding the militia gathered here under Gov. Taylor's orders. He also appointed Brigadier General John B. Castleman, U. S. V. retired, adjutant general to take charge of the army.

The contest between the two men, each claiming full legal powers as governor of the state, has now reached its climax. The issues are so sharply drawn that open conflict and bloodshed, if not a real internal war, seem unavoidable.

Democratic Members Signed.

When the members of the legislature found they could not meet anywhere without the interference of the militia, the papers necessary to be passed by the joint assembly were prepared, and the democratic members signed them. This course was advised at a consultation of leading democratic attorneys. The papers signed set forth the reasons for the unusual course of procedure.

As soon as possible after the signatures of the democratic member of the general assembly were attached to the documents, Speaker Trimble of the house, Chairman Hickman of the gubernatorial contest committee, Chief Justice Hazelrigg and one or two leading democrats proceeded to the chamber where their leader lay on what is thought to be his death bed. After consulting with the physicians in attendance the party entered the room. Mr. Goebel was raised up in bed and the chief justice administered the oath of office in the briefest form consistent with legality. After taking the oath Mr. Goebel sank back on the pillow with a smile of complete satisfaction on his face.

Immediately after the swearing in of Goebel as governor, J. C. W. Beckham took the oath as lieutenant governor.

Proclamation Issued.

The following proclamation had been prepared by Speaker Trimble and his associates, and was immediately signed by Mr. Goebel.

BIG FIRE RAGING AT DAYTON, OHIO

Heart of the Business District Being Destroyed by Great Conflagration.

MILLIONS UP IN SMOKE

An Urgent Appeal For Help Sent Out to All the Neighboring Cities.

Whole Fire Department and Citizens in Bucket Brigades Have Been Unable to Check the Flames—Dynamite Being Used to Blow Up the Buildings in the Path of the Flames—Feared That Fire Will Attack Residence Portions of the City—People are Moving Their Goods From Their Houses and the Wildest Excitement Prevails.

Dayton, O., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—A great fire is raging here. It threatens to destroy over a million dollars worth of property in the heart of the business district. All the cities within sixty miles of Dayton have been appealed to for help.

The whole fire department has labored since early morning but has been unable to check the flames.

Dynamite is being used in blowing up buildings in the path of the fire.

Citizens have organized bucket brigades and the whole city is in the wildest of alarm.

It is feared that the flames will attack the residence portion of the city in which event nothing can stop their progress. The people are moving goods and chattels out of their houses to places of safety.

At 1 o'clock nine large brick buildings and four big office blocks had been consumed and the fire was still progressing.

No correct estimate can be made of the loss at this time, but it is believed to be over a million dollars.

Dayton, O., is the county seat of Montgomery county, situated on the Great Miami river, forty-eight miles northeast of Cincinnati. It has immense manufactures of railway cars, paper, stoves, etc. The population is about 75,000.

THROWS LIGHT ON A STARTLING CRIME

Body of a Murdered Man Packed in An Express Box Marked As "Books."

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 1.—The discovery yesterday that a box shipped from Baltimore, Md., to C. S. Bradford, marked "Books," really contained the corpse of a murdered man of probably fifty-five years, promises to throw light on a startling crime in an eastern city. The box was shipped Jan. 16, charges collect, by the United States Express company, and arrived here Jan. 19. It has since remained in the warehouse of the express company. An awful odor coming from it, and the fact that a notice to the consignee was given no attention, led to an investigation of its contents. C. S. Bradford is not known in this city.

The box was 24x38x18 inches, and the corpse was found to be doubled up to crowd it into the space. There was a long gash on the left side of the head, which had been sewed up in a bungling manner with twine. There were several days' growth of beard on the face, but the hair was shaved close to the head. Both beard and hair were gray, and the man was about 5 feet 3 inches tall.

The express agent immediately notified the coroner, and turned the body over to an undertaker. An inquest will be held today. The body was clothed only in a shirt, not marked. In the box, to stuff the corners, were copies of the Baltimore American, Herald, Sun, and Der Deutsche Correspondent, dated Jan. 8 and 10. The features are those of a German.

TO FORM APPENDICITIS CLUB

Cleveland Men About to Organize a Peculiar Society

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 1.—An appendicitis club is being organized in Cleveland. Only those who have suffered from appendicitis and have a surgeon's certificate to show that they have undergone an operation, are eligible to membership. A preliminary organization has already been formed, of which Primus Clark, assistant ticket agent of the Erie railroad, has been unanimously chosen president. The club already has ten members in good standing. It is proposed to hold meetings once a month, and an annual banquet, at which appendicitis will be the only subject of discussion.

PLANS FOR LAWTON TRAIN

Gen. Shafter Completes Arrangements—Widow Told of the Fund.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 1.—Gen. Shafter has completed arrangements for the shipment of the remains of Gen. Lawton, Maj. Logan and Surgeon-Major Armstrong in the east this afternoon. The bodies are lying in state at the undertaking parlors on 5th street. They will leave on the special train at 2 p. m. today over the Central Pacific railroad.

The funeral here will be very imposing. The procession will start from the undertaking parlors at 1 p. m. The three gun caissons, each drawn by four black horses. The escort will consist of two troops of the national guard and two troops of regulars. The procession will proceed to Market street, thence to the ferry to connect with a boat to transfer the remains across the bay to the Overland depot.

When Mrs. Lawton arrived yesterday she received the first news that the friends and admirers of her husband had raised a subscription of $95,000 to clear her home in southern California from indebtedness. When she received the information she gave way to grateful emotion and wept.

In response to a request made by the governor of Indiana, Gen. Shafter telegraphed that Gen. Lawton's remains will lie in state one day each at Fort Wayne and Indianapolis. The route will be via Ogden, Omaha, Chicago and thence via the Pennsylvania line to Fort Wayne, thence to Indianapolis and from there to Washington.

BABES JOIN IN SALOON WAR

Waterloo, Iowa, Liquor Fight Promises to Develop Sensations.

Waterloo, Iowa, Feb. 1.—"For my sake don't sign the saloon petition" is the inscription on 1,000 blue and red ribbon badges pinned onto the clothing of the school children of Waterloo today by representatives of the ministerial union. The union believes that if it can enlist the services of the children by having them wear these badges its fight against the reopening of saloons will be easier to win.

IS THE BEGINNING OF A GREAT ERA

Senators Thurston, Lindsay and Others on the United States' Destiny as a World Power.

New York, Feb. 1.—"If we are to seek a great foreign market for our surplus products; if we are to realize the dream of a great American merchant marine; if we are to construct a canal across the isthmus, making a new highway around the globe; if we are to see San Francisco become another New York; if we are to accept our destiny as a world wide power and hold our own in the struggle for commercial supremacy, we cannot, we must not, and, in my judgment, we will not refuse to accept what the fortunes of war have given us—the key to the Orient, the Gibraltar of Asia."

Thus spoke Senator Thurston of Nebraska, last night responding to the toast "Our Foreign Policy," at the twenty-eighth annual dinner of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation at the Waldorf-Astoria. Senator Thurston was the first speaker and he furnished the keynote for the rest.

Three hundred members of the organization were present. Prior to the assembling of the guests, Senators Thurston of Nebraska, Lindsay of Kentucky, Perkins of California, and M. A. Hanna of Ohio, held a reception.

GIGANTIC STRIKE IS IN PROSPECT

Predicted That Seventy Thousand Coal Diggers Will Quit Work in Indiana Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—The possibility that the coal industry in the states of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania, known as the competitive field, will be shut down and the 70,000 miners of the district called out on a general strike within the next forty-eight hours was brought about last night by inability to reach an agreement in the joint scale committee of miners and operators. That body closed its deliberations without reaching any conclusion, and a strike of gigantic proportions is the predicted result.

The charge was made on the floor of the committee-room that the Indiana operators had deliberately come into the convention with the purpose of breaking up the interstate movement, and whether or not this is true their action is said to have made the reaching of an agreement a remote possibility.

PETTIGREW BOUND TO SEE IT THROUGH

Insists On Aguinaldo's Statement Being Inscribed On the Senate Record.

Washington, Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—In the senate today Pettigrew offered a resolution that the statement of the Philippine situation as prepared by Aguinaldo, which the senator endeavored to get into the record yesterday, be printed. He asked that it lie on the table and gave notice that he would call it up tomorrow.

BULLER AGAIN CROSSES TUGELA

Fords the River in Three Different Places to Attack Boers.

HEAVY BATTLE IS ON

English Public is in Desperation Over the Inactivity of the War Office.

Government Gives No Sign of Increased Effort in South Africa.—Siege of Kimberley in Active Progress.—Kaffirs Not Wanted in That Town Because of Small Food Supply.—British Capture Prieska, a Town on Border of Griqualand.—Gen. Joubert Goes to the Upper Tugela.

London, Feb. 1.—[Special Cablegram]—The St. James Gazette reports the information that Gen. Buller's forces have crossed the Tugela at three places and have engaged the enemy again.

London Public is Desperate.

London, Feb. 1.—[Special Cablegram]—The feeling in London is turning from disappointment over the results in the field to desperation at the course of the government. The latter gives no sign of any effort to raise more troops or to adopt any broad scheme of campaign in South Africa.

The Manchester Guardian today prints an interview obtained from a soldier who was on Spion Kop. He said the Boers were invisible, while the British position was perfectly plain. He adds that the Boer doctors expressed their amazement over the British losses.

The Siege of Kimberley

Kimberley, Feb. 1.—[Special Cablegram]—The report that the Boers' big gun the "Susanah" had burst is incorrect. The Kaffirs attempting to leave Kimberley were driven back by the Boers and only a few were permitted to pass. The Kaffirs require a great deal of food. The Boers have been notified that the Basutos are their friends.

British Occupy Prieska

Cape Town, Feb. 1.—[Special Cablegram]—The British have occupied Prieska, Cape Colony, on the border of Griqualand, ninety miles west of Hope-town. The Australian infantry at Enselin, North Belmont, is being converted into cavalry, to further strengthen this branch of the service.

Ladysmith, Feb. 1.—[Special Cablegram]—General Joubert left the Boers head Laager yesterday, and proceeded to the upper Tugela.

Buller May Try It Again

Cape Town, Feb. 1.—General Buller still holds the Tugela drifts and will possibly renew his attempt to force his way through the Boer defences before long.

In any case Ladysmith is capable of holding out for a considerable time.

Mateking May be Relieved

London, Feb. 1.—A brief dispatch from Cape Town dated on Tuesday says: "Another message has been received that Mateking has been relieved. It is reported that the relieving force came from the north and joined hands with Baden Powell a week ago. This news is not official, but Cape Town is inclined to believe the report."

British and Boer Losses

London, Feb. 1.—The supplemental lists of casualties fill two columns in nonpareil type in the morning papers, making 1,300 reported thus far from General Buller's operations north of the Tugela. The Daily Chronicle estimates that the total exceeds 2,000.

The 40 per cent loss at Spion Kop is greater than any British force ever suffered, except possibly at Albuera, Spain, in 1811.

Pretoria, Feb. 1.—It is officially announced that the Boer casualties at Spion Kop were fifty-three men killed and 120 wounded.

DAMAGE BY FIRE IN CITY OF BELOIT

George McKey Block Burned Down—His Loss Will Be About $2,000.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 1.—[Special Telegram]—Fire broke out in the McAlpin grocery store, McKey block, about 1 o'clock last night and considerable damage was done. Mr. McAlpin's loss will be $2,500 but is well insured. Mr. McKey of Janesville, who owns the block will suffer a loss of about $2,000. The Clarion club who occupy the rooms above the grocery store will have a loss of from $200 to $300.

Hunt for the Secret of a Future Life.

All knowledge is hidden from man until he finds it out. It is not forbidden to him to discover the secrets of earth; who shall say that it is unlawful to go further, if he can, and pry into the mysteries that seem to lie outside of earth? Is it trespassing to seek for sure tokens of another life? Who shall say so? The most that conservative observers may say is that, so far, spiritualism has seemed trivial, misleading and inexpedient. That demoralization, if not madness, has seemed to lie that way; and that those who have been content to go about their business here, taking the future life on trust, have seemed to fare better than those who have directed earthly energies into a search for proofs of unearthly facts.—From "The Points of View," in Scribner's.

Orange Free State Flag.

The Orange Free State flag is a simple rectangle of vivid orange. An orange tree in full fruit is the most distinctive feature of the arms of the Orange Free State. Beneath the tree are on one side a lion and on the other a number of oxen. An ox-wagon similar to that on the Transvaal arms and three suspended horns complete the whole. "Spes Bona"—good hope—is written underneath the arms of Cape Colony, the chief feature of which is a lion rampant. A figure of Hope surmounts the shield, the supporters of which are a couple of native animals.

Before starting on a "run" a refreshing wash with Ivory Soap gives new energy. It lathers quickly in any kind of water and does not cost more than common soap. The luxury of being clean is not realized without using Ivory Soap. You need not fear alkali, or other injurious ingredients found in many soaps. Ivory Soap is nothing but pure materials, combined to make a soap that will clean and rinse quickly, thoroughly, satisfactorily.

Python Guards Her Eggs.

New York Cor. Philadelphia Record: A huge python stands guard over her 67 eggs at the new Zoological Garden, and a Board of Strategy has been appointed to separate the snake from her nest. Attendants say that with out sand and the heat of the tropics her snakeship never will be able to hatch the eggs, but she guards them fiercely, and seems confident of success. The eggs were first discovered on Monday morning, and the attendants were astonished by their number. Ever since the python has shown unmistakable signs of ugliness. The snake is 22 feet long and weighs 150 pounds. The eggs are pear-shaped and weigh about a pound each. They might be hatched in an incubator, but incubators are not among the household effects in the reptile's home.

Cars Run Down a Mountain.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Two cars broke loose from a train at the Betty Baker mines, on the Cripple Creek division of the Norfolk & Western railroad, and ran down the mountain, the brakeman jumping off. After running one mile down the steep grade the cars struck a handcar with four men on it. George Summers, C. Z. Phillips and A. Surrat were killed, and Oscar Johnson badly hurt.

George Langford's Arm Amputated.

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 1.—George Langford, superintendent of the Joliet plant of the McKenna Steel company and nephew of one of the principal stockholders, had his left arm torn off Wednesday night. He stumbled and fell headlong into the rolls which re-roll the heavy rails. His arm was amputated at the shoulder. It is not thought his injuries will prove fatal.

Plunger Goes Broke.

New York, Feb. 1.—Henry G. Tunstall went broke on the stock exchange Wednesday, after some extraordinary plunging in sugar stock on the bull side, apparently undertaken to make good heavy losses on the bear side, especially in American Steel and Wire. A clerk said the failure was for less than $100,000. Mr. Tunstall is only 27 years old.

Trees and Shrubs.

Bushes add to the moisture of the soil, and when near the house wall they should be removed if the soil be permeable to water only slightly. Through thickets of bushes any excess of ground water does not evaporate as quickly as through uncovered turf. While a few high trees, suitably placed, serve to intercept the fiercest rays of a tropical sun, shade trees over and about a house in cooler climates are undesirable, since they lessen the healthful force of the sun and wind. As a windbreak for a house in an exposed or level situation trees are desirable to the northward and north-westward or otherwise disposed so as to afford shelter against the blindest winds in cold localities. Like surfaces of water, trees appear to intercept "malarial" air currents. Thus it may not be well to remove a grove or thicket lying between habitations and a malarial swamp or river bottom.—Selected.

Extra Compensation.

The terms of a contract providing that no claim for extra compensation should be allowed unless the extra work was done upon the written order of the architect and the amount computed by him, also that the measurements and estimates of the architect are to be conclusive on both parties, together with other similar terms, may be waived by the acts and conduct of the parties to the contract.—Williams Versus Mears, 5 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.), 104.

Must Satisfy Both.

A contract with a portrait painter to take and pay for a painting provided that it was satisfactory cannot be construed to mean that it should be taken if satisfactory to the painter merely because that was his understanding of the contract.—Barry Versus Rainey, 57 N. Y. Supp., 706.

Invented in Prison.

While serving a ten years' sentence in an eastern penitentiary a colored prisoner, who has just been discharged, turned his mind to invention, with successful results. Besides making himself useful by inventing several mechanical devices that were put to use in the employment department of the institution, this genius completed a model for an automatic fire-escape that promises to be a commercial success. The escape is a clock-like arrangement, so constructed that when one person has alighted on the ground the rope winds up and is again ready for use. A patent has been applied for.

The heart, plain or "winged," solid or skeleton, single or double, rides upon a very high wave of favor as the groom's gift to the bride in form of a brooch or pendant.

Most of the new fashions tend in the direction of tight lacing. Princess gowns especially necessitate small waists, and the enlarged hips point to the same result. Dickens declared that "style meant back." Style certainly means carriage, and it is the fashion to wear firm supporting stays, which can easily be drawn a little tighter.

Orange Coat of Arms.

The coat of arms of the Orange Free State shows an orange tree in the middle of the field; on one side stands a lion, on the other a lamb. The motto beneath is "Freedom, Immigration, Patience, Courage." The emblem of the lion and lamb has a scriptural reference to the peace and harmony within its borders, and does not glance at the geographical position of the republic between the domain of the British lion and the pastoral Boers of the Transvaal, as an American joker might assume.

RESULTS OF BAD EXAMPLE

The shooting of Senator Goebel is but the logical outcome of the kind of civilization that prevails in Kentucky. U. S. A. There is no state in this union where an honest, law abiding citizen, has to carry a revolver, yet no Kentucky politician, apparently, considers himself fully dressed without a gun. One party appears to be as bad as another in this respect, so honors on that score are even, but the man who carries a gun is not to be trusted. He has murder in his heart, and cowardice in his soul. Human life is not secure when such men run loose, and the first step Kentucky should take is to disarm her population. The unarmed man seldom commits murder.

Senator Goebel fell by an assassin's bullet. The fact that Goebel's bullet had once taken a human life—not in self defense, but in anger—may or may not be relevant, but it remains, just the same. When Goebel killed a man at Covington, he set an example that others have followed. The attack on Goebel was cowardly, and a disgrace to the state, yet Goebel, it must be admitted, is as much responsible for the "political gun habit" as any other Kentuckian. Goebel was with Colonel Jack Chinn when the bullet cut him down. Chinn's first movement, according to the dispatches, was to "pull his revolver from the belt in which he carried it." Chinn is notorious as a "gun fighter," and such as he have given Kentucky much of her unenviable reputation for "dark and bloody ground."

At the time Goebel was shot he was enroute to the statehouse on a lawless mission. The history of the last political campaign is still fresh in the public mind Goebel had overriden his party, and prominent leaders of the same political faith, had repudiated him. The fight at both the primaries and the polls was bitter, but the State Election board—a body of Goebel's creation, and controlled by Goebel—had found the facts so overwhelming that the dared not seat Goebel, and gave the certificate to Gov. Taylor. Goebel then repudiated his own creatures, and appealed to the legislature. The latter body was under his control, and prepared to oust Gov. Taylor, and seat Goebel, despite the fact that such action was so bare faced a proceeding that Goebel's election board did not dare do it. It was in the furtherance of this infamous plan that Goebel was visiting the state house.

These facts in no way excuse the lawlessness or the brutal work of the cowardly assassin, but they have a strong bearing on the conditions that prevail. The lawlessness of Goebel and his kind is largely the cause, and the cowardly crime is the effect. Goebel's friends now "denounce such acts," but everyone of them, doubtless, like Chinn, wore a revolver in a belt—and they did not wear them for ornament, either. Gov Taylor may not be free from blame. If he has contributed, in any way, to the execution of the brutal assault, no one will defend him. But it does not appear that he felt called upon to "take a gun," while the Goebels invariably did so.

The Chinn, the Goebels, and other of their ilk have set a bad example for many years past, and the last tragic event had been predicted. The affair has no political significance, but it shows "what ails Kentucky"—too many gun fighters, and too few typical Americans who never need firearms in order to make their point.

Everyone will join in the wish that Senator Goebel may recover. Everyone will denounce his cowardly assailant, but at the same time, everyone will also hope that he will mend his ways, and cease to set an example of lawlessness and corruption in the future. Chickens always come home to roost, and "as ye sow, so shall ye reap."

Ten years hence Germany will have Says No Insurrection Exists.

"Now, therefore, we, the undersigned a mighty navy. The increase will be as follows: Forty battleships instead of the seventeen she has now, twenty large cruisers instead of the eleven, forty-eight small cruisers, and gunboats in place of twenty-two, and 114 torpedo boats instead of eighty-four as at present.

TRUTH AND JUSTICE.

The Recorder takes The Gazette to task and charges misrepresentation concerning a lecture. The article in question was printed at the request and on the authority of two officers of the Young Men's Christian Association, and The Recorder has not and cannot demonstrate that they have lied. The statement that Prof. Mayne praised the lecture, was made by the lecturer himself, who stated that Prof. Mayne paid him the compliment in a personal conversation. Prof. Mayne, according to The Recorder, denies that he made the statement. There seems to be a misunderstanding between the lecturer and the professor, for which fact we are certainly not accountable. This is a small matter, it is true, but patience ceases to be a virtue after awhile, and this sample case shows the length to which The Recorder will go in order to complain about anything that The Gazette prints.

Secretary Gage realizes that it pays to advertise in the newspapers, as the following dispatch will show:

In discussing the newspaper attacks upon him a few weeks ago, Secretary Gage told a correspondent that all he wanted was to buy a farm in some quiet corner of New England and retire to it. The newspaper man took him at his word and printed a paragraph to that effect. Since then the secretary has been flooded with letters from real estate owners in all parts of New England offering to supply him with more or less desirable farm properties.

The stereotyped hunt for a policeman was on again yesterday afternoon, and as usual, the citizens not only had to do the running, but take care of the man beside. We certainly have a fine police system in this town—so fine that a field glass is necessary to find it.

Chicago people, like Janesville people, are complaining of an insufficient police system. Both Janesville and Chicago have outgrown the old time methods and, as is true of all other first class towns, the people of both cities are quick to realize the fact.

The charge is made that the city administration is "cursing the weak saloons of Chicago" in order that they may be able to pay their license—bringing them up on a bottle, so to speak.

"Politics," says Mr. Dooley, "is not bean bag. 'Tis a man's game, and women, children and profligate politicians had better keep out of it." Doubtless Mr. Dooley had Kentucky in mind.

The evidence shows that Col. Jack Chinn had his shooting iron with him. How would it do to start the ball a rolling by prosecuting Chinn for carrying concealed weapons?

There seems to be no doubt of the fact that Col. Jack Chinn held his fire only because he could not see anyone to shoot at.

Perhaps Gen. Sherman had Kentucky in mind when he uttered his famous definition of war.

All the peaceful Kentuckians, it will be found, have taken to the tall blue grass.

KENTUCKY IN A VERY BAD PLIGHT

of January, 1900, at 10:30, the hour to which the house of representatives had adjourned, the members thereof attempted to assemble in the house in the state capital for the purpose of performing the duties with which they are charged under the laws of the commonwealth. At the entrance to the house they were met by armed soldiers, commanded by the adjutant general of the state, under the orders of the acting governor, and the members of the house of representatives were by your soldiers not only refused admittance to the house, but commanded to disperse as an unlawful assemblage. Thereupon your representatives attempted to meet at other places, within the city of Frankfort, but were pursued by the soldiers and dispersed at the point of the bayonet.

Deplores Taylor's Action.
"Furthermore, as if these unwarranted acts, hitherto unheard of and without precedent under any form of government, were not a sufficient assumption of tyrannical powers, notice was then and there attempted to be served upon your representatives by officers that the acting governor had adjourned the general assembly to meet in London, in a remote mountain county in the heart of that section of the state notorious throughout the nation for its lawlessness, murderous feuds and assassinations, where he and his predecessors have repeatedly acknowledged their inability to enforce the law. This outrageous usurpation of power and authority denied to the legally constituted chief executive of the commonwealth by the constitution, the acting governor attempts to base upon an alleged state of insurrection which he without warrant of fact declares to exist throughout the state, and especially in the vicinity of Frankfort.

representatives of Kentucky, no protest to the people of the commonwealth. That no insurrection exists or has existed in the vicinity of Frankfort; that no dangers or indication of dangers exist, except such as have arisen from time to time from the presence of hordes of armed men brought here by the acting governor and his colleagues for the purpose of provoking resentment and counter demonstrations on the part of the law-abiding citizens of the state."

Call to Disperse Militia.

Mr. Goebel signed another paper which was addressed to the officers in command of the troops here, and called on them to disperse their men at once. In the event the soldiers are not disposed to obey the orders, it is declared they would be compelled by force.

Judge Cantrill of the Franklin Circuit court was asked this morning for a mandamus compelling Messrs. Taylor and Marshall to vacate.

Lieut. Gov. Beckham is now acting as governor, owing to Mr. Goebel's condition. He has his headquarters in the Capitol hotel, and will remain there, he says, until he can get possession of the executive building.

It is understood that the new officials have a number of armed men they can bring here on short notice, to attempt to disperse the militia, as mentioned in the proclamation. In the event the republicans refuse to vacate, serious trouble is expected, although the Goebel men have declared that they will do nothing in an unlawful manner.

Senator Goebel's condition is considerably improved today, and Drs. Hume and McCormick say he has a good chance to recover. Dr. McCormick said that he was better and stronger than at any time since he was shot. It was thought for about two hours Wednesday afternoon that Mr. Goebel was dying, but he rallied and has been improving ever since.

The police have been actively at work looking for the man or men who did the shooting, but have made no arrests or secured no clues.

Warrant for Speaker.

A warrant of arrest has been issued by Gov. Taylor for Speaker South Trimble of the lower house. The republican soldiers cannot find Trimble. The warrant charges Trimble with conspiracy, it is said.

Gov. Taylor is having warrants prepared for every member of the legislature who has allied himself with the democrats, charging them with conspiracy. If the story is true, and an attempt is made to serve the warrants, trouble is probable.

Strangers in the Office.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 1.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction John Burke, from whose office the shot that killed Senator Goebel was supposed to have been fired, was seen at his home Wednesday. He was not in Frankfort at the time of the shooting. He said: "I am all broken up over the report that the shot was fired from my office window. Monday night two well-appearing gentlemen asked permission to sleep in my office over night, claiming they could not get hotel accommodations. They were permitted to do so. I think I could identify the men."

of the Gordon estate in Milwaukee and was insured with Carter & Morse for $700.

Mr. Gardner places his loss in the neighborhood of $1000 with no insurance. The cause of the conflagration is unknown.

Farmers Lose Their Teams

William Reid of the town of Bradford, loses two horses valued at $250. They were insured.

Peter Burnard of the town of Harmony, lost one horse valued at $200.
The animal was insured.

Benjamin Miller, Janesville, lost one horse, harness, buggy, robes and grain.
No insurance.

Nathan Thornton, Janesville, lost one horse. No insurance.

Mr. Gardner says that about a dozen Scotch collie puppies were consumed in the flames. Considerable baled hay and loose straw was destroyed as was much grain.

At 11:45 this morning Mr. Gardner and his hired men, Fred Nobs and Fred Murphy were talking in the front part of the shop when all at once they noticed a roll of smoke come through the floor in the rear of the stable. Mr. Gardner at once made his way out of the front door and down an alley on the north side of the barn. As he entered the rear of the barn basement he was greeted by sheets of flame and rolls of dark smoke that came from a loose straw pile.

Four Horses in the Barn

Four of the horses were in stalls directly over this mass of fire and smoke.
With all possible haste Mr. Gardner made his way to the shop and there informed Mr. Murphy who was endeavoring to locate the cause of the smoke. Mr. Murphy then hastened to the corner of Milwaukee and Bluff streets and turned in an alarm from box 24. Mr. Gardner made haste to the East side engine house, where he arrived just as the alarm was turned in from box 24.

The structure by this time was filled with dense smoke from one end to the other. Then the department arrived.
To rescue the imprisoned animals was simply out of the question. Smoke made it impossible to make one's way into the building. The whinnying horses and yelping dogs added terror and pity to the scene.

Frantic Efforts to Escape

Four of the imprisoned animals were in stalls in the rear of the building.
They made frantic efforts to free themselves. Two of them broke loose but suffocated by the smoke fell and were consumed near their stalls.

In the front part of the shop was a valuable team belonging to Peter Burnard of the town of Harmony. They were hitched within a few feet of the walk. When the first roll of smoke made its way through the barn both horses broke from their fastenings. One of the animals was rescued. The other refused to leave the shop. He plunged against the front doors thus preventing them from being opened by half a hundred willing hands on the outside.

Near the door the frenzied animal repeatedly sought to gain its release but was finally suffocated by smoke and dropped in its tracks dead.

Scotch Collie Dogs Burned

On the second and first floors were several Scotch collie dogs and their cries were pitiful. The firemen made every effort to rescue them but of no avail. A half dozen dogs made their escape before the department arrived.

The cause of the fire is unknown.
Mr. Gardner says that he believes it to be the work of playing children who probably set fire to straw that was stored in the basement.

A strong wind blowing from the northwest fanned the flames and within ten minutes from the time the alarm was sounded the entire barn and shop was a roaring furnace.

Built For a Livery Stable.

The destroyed building was a two story and basement frame structure. It was built for a livery stable several years ago. Later it was occupied by Reid Brothers who used it for a sale stable for imported horses. During the past few years James Gardner has leased the barn, using the front as a blacksmith shop. The rear end contained several stalls which were rented as stabling

Owned in Milwaukee

The building is the property of the Gordon estate of Milwaukee which is represented in Janesville by Walter Helms and George G. Sutherland.

For one hour the department fought hard to save adjoining structures. On the south, but a few feet away, was located a one story frame warehouse occupied by the Janesville Carriage Works. This building was filled with costly vehicles which were all removed uninjured. This building escaped destruction as did adjoining ones on the north and south.

Frigid weather prevailing the firemen found it hard work to fight the fire. Five streams were playing on the building, but the water seemed to make little impression aside from confining the fire to the doomed structure.

During the afternoon several hundred people visited the scene. The bodies of the charred horses and dogs presented a ghastly and sickening sight. Three of the horses died in their stalls. Several of the dogs were found in different parts of the barn, where they had aimlessly wandered until suffocated by dense smoke.

Mr. Gardner says he is at a loss just now to tell what he will do towards re-establishing his business.

Firemen Made Happy

Fred R. Jones, landlord of the Hotel London, made members of the fire department happy by serving hot coffee and refreshments, free of charge. The atmosphere was biting cold, and Landlord Jones' kind act at such a time, proved one that will long be remembered.

SEVERAL STRIKERS

RETURN TO WORK

COTTON COMPANY CLAIM THE STRIKE A FAILURE.

Forty Hands Now Being Employed at the Mill in Monterey—Many of the Strikers Allege They are Paid
Better Wages in the Local Leaf Tobacco Warehouses.

Strikers at the Monterey mill of the Janesville Cotton company have failed in their strike for higher wages and less hours. Work at the mill has resumed, and forty hands are now employed, and the hum of machinery is once more heard in every portion of the factory.

Before the strike, 150 hands were given employment. As fast as help can be secured, new hands will be added, and it is expected that within the next few days the mill will be running again the same as before the trouble commenced.

Of the forty hands now at work it is claimed that the greater portion are strikers who have thought it better policy to return than to remain out of work any longer. Strikers who have not returned are by no means idle. The greater portion of the women are now working in local leaf tobacco warehouse and they are able to earn better wages than they did at the cotton mill.

Said a stockholder in the Janesville Cotton company: "The strikers have failed to win their point. Many have returned to work and others who see fit to apply will be reinstated at the old scale of wages. Before many days I believe that the mill will again be running with full force."

A Diet of Stones.

Crocodiles, like ostriches, swallow pebbles and small stones, which serve the purpose of grinding their food. The natives assert that it is possible to tell the age of a crocodile by the number of stones in its stomach, for they swallow one each year. In point of fact, fifteen stones have been found in the stomach of a crocodile twelve feet long, whereas the average number for younger ones varies between four and eight.
So says Mr. Volkow, who has been studying the matter for several years.

The Duration of Human Life.

It is estimated the average duration of human life is about thirty-three years. A quarter of the people die during the seventh year, and half before their seventeenth. Of every thousand persons, one only reaches a hundred years; six in a hundred get to sixty-five, and one in five hundred to eighty. It is further estimated that throughout the world fifty millions die annually, one hundred and thirty-eight thousand a day, nearly six thousand an hour, ninety a minute, or three every two seconds.

HINTS FOR THE HOME-MAKER.

BY ELIZABETH LYON.

It does not matter how chipped or broken it is so long as there is a bit of color on every scrap. If you can carry your point, you will probably get more pieces than you really need. But don't mind that. Take them all and save them to give back to those same friends. They will want them when they see your artistic creation.

A second requisite is a devoted brother, father or husband who will do almost anything for you. Have him "beg, borrow or steal" a piece of clay drain pipe. A new one is best, but if you cannot get that take an old one and be content. Buy from a builder's supply 15 cents' worth of mortar and a 25 cent bottle of gilt paint from a hardware store. Get the kind that comes with the gold powder and the oil separate. It not only wears better than that which is already prepared, but it is more economical to use. Also get 3 cents' worth of putty from a paint store. Be sure that it is very soft. Should it harden before you have finished with the pedestal, work in a little oil. Crude oil is the best. This is an unpleasant task, so it is well to be particular and get it soft at the start. Provide yourself with an upholsterer's tack hammer, one that has a wedge shaped end, and a small trowel.

Having all the materials at hand, I should advise taking them into an unused room, where everything can remain undisturbed just as you leave it if you should be called away from the work.

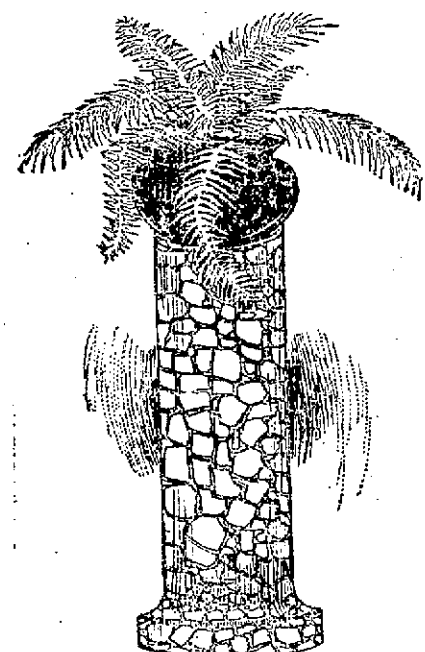

Stand the drain pipe on a low box, so that you can work all around it while sitting on the floor. Break the china into small pieces, using the wedge shaped end of the hammer. To get the best result it is well to strike the reverse side of the pieces. By doing so the edges will be clean and free from chips on the right side. The more irregular the bits the more beautiful will be the effect.

Arrange the various colors harmoniously beside you on the floor, have the trowel and mortar within easy reach and gather your patience.

Lay on the mortar a foot at a time, beginning at the bottom, and press the pieces firmly in place. Fit them quite closely, being careful to remove the mortar that rises in ridges between them. Have no regard for design, but do be careful that the colors do not clash.

When you have covered the whole outside surface of the pipe, open the windows and let it dry slowly. Artificial heat is apt to dry the mortar too quickly at first, and the pieces are liable to drop out in a short while.

After three or four days get your putty ready. Point all the joints and let the putty dry slowly for a few days. When it is firm to the touch, mix the gold paint, a small quantity at a time, and cover all the pointings.

A HOME-MADE PEDESTAL.

An ordinary large flower-pot that fits well over the stand and decorated after the same fashion makes an artistic finish. The whole effect is beautiful, and it has cost less than $1.

A movement is afoot for the creation of a magistrate's court, which shall be a children's court purely, where none but children's cases will be tried. Its object is to keep the younger separate from the older offenders, many of whom are vicious and take pleasure in contaminating these little people's minds.

This ornamental shirt waist box can be used as a window seat or as an ottoman standing out in the room.

The first qualification necessary to make the following pedestal of unique design is that you must be a clever woman of many friends. And you must not hesitate to call upon them freely. Tell them that you are going to make an oriental pedestal and that you want all their old and discarded china.

The absurdly short lived utility of the pretty lamp shades of satin paper that have been so popular and which were such good covers for the ugly old fashioned white china lamp globes has driven a charming little woman almost to distraction, her complaint being that after hours of labor she had only succeeded in making something that was bound to look dull and seedy at the end of a few weeks. How she happened on her novel idea is something she cannot explain, but the resulting shade was not only quite original and durable, but it was beautiful as well.

The material used was an ordinary red and yellow cotton handkerchief of Turkish pattern about 15 inches square, a piece of red satin to line the handkerchief, 1 1/2 yards of cotton fringe about three inches wide, costing 10 cents per yard, and a thin cotton cord and tassel to match, at about 6 cents. If you would like to make such a shade, get these materials and then proceed as follows:

Place the handkerchief, right side up, on a smooth surface and lay the lining face down, over the handkerchief. Be sure that both pieces of material are without wrinkles, for the success of the shade will depend wholly on the neatness in making. Then baste all edges closely to avoid shifting and sew by machine. Remove the bastings and, if it is necessary, press the goods with a hot iron. Fold the goods into quarters and cut out a right angle section of a circle at the intersection of the creases. This will leave a circular hole in the middle of the goods when unfolded which will fit over the top of the china lamp globe. Turn the goods inside out and blind stitch the raw edges, having first turned them toward each other.

Sew the fringe around the outer edges of the square, make a double gathering 1 1/2 inches below the edges of the circle and draw in to fit the top of the globe. Tie the cord and tassel in place.

The complete shade will cost less than 50 cents and can be adapted to a wire frame as well as the china globe.

It is such a nuisance to care for the freshly laundered shirt waists unless one has much closet space and many shelves that I simply had to think of something to hold them," said a natty little lady who is always contriving something to ameliorate the small comforts of an expensive city apartment.

She had an upholsterer make this "something" for her, but any ingenious woman can easily do the same thing at trifling cost.

If you happen to have a recess window, all the better. Get a large wooden shoe case from an accommodating dry goods house with a smooth fitting cover the exact length of the box. Have the box short enough to fit into the recess easily.

Remove the cover. It will probably consist of a number of loose boards. If this is the case, you will have to get a few narrow boards with length equal to the breadth of the box and use them as crosspieces on which to nail the boards, thus making a strong, serviceable cover.

Line the box, also the inside of the cover, with white cotton "paper lining," the glossy kind, bringing the material well over the edges and fasten the goods firmly with gimp tacks. Use tiny brass headed tacks where it is necessary on the inside. Either a hair cushion or the thick part of an old discarded comfortor will serve for padding on the top of the cover; tuck it regularly.

For the outside material use light blue denim with a running design or any preferable color to match the other furnishings. Lay the goods to plait around the sides and ornament with large brass headed tacks. Finish the edge of the cover to correspond and fasten it in place with three fancy, long, brass hinges.

QUEER RAILWAY WRECK.

Mogul Engine Starts Itself and Causes $22,000 Loss.

Peru, Ind., Feb. 1.—While a live mogul with a dead engine ahead of it was being coaled here Wednesday the throttle of the mogul opened, and it started forward, pushing the dead engine and running onto the main line. Two miles out from the city the two locomotives, running at a rate of fifty miles an hour, crashed into a fast freight. Engineer Brackett and Fireman Brumfield jumped and were seriously injured, but not fatally. The engines and seven cars were wrecked. The property loss was $25,000.

Greely's Assault Pined.

Washington, Feb. 1.—A plea of guilty was entered Wednesday by Joseph C. Furnace, charged with having assaulted Brig.-Gen. A. W. Greely at the latter's house on Jan. 7 last. Judge Kimball sentenced the prisoner to pay a fine of $250 or go to jail for six months. At the suggestion of counsel for the prisoner Gen. Greely stated that he had no desire to have Furnace punished with over-severity. His only desire was that the decent people of Washington might be protected. The fine was then reduced to $100.

Soundly Whipped an Editor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 1.—Public indignation against P. A. Jennings, editor and publisher of the Democrat and Searchlight, at Salem, Washington county, culminated Wednesday night, when several citizens attacked Jennings upon the street and gave him an unmerciful whipping. A dozen or more were engaged in the attack. The assault was the result of trouble of long standing, and was not unexpected. Jennings was charged with using his papers to malign citizens.

King Humbert's Smoking.

King Humbert of Italy has but few qualities in common with his father, King Victor Emmanuel, one of the few being, his intense love of smoking. Temperate to the verge of asceticism, in all his other enjoyments, the king had developed his propensity for strong cigars to such a pitch that his nervous system was completely shattered, he began to be affected with asthma, and his general health was undermined. There was nothing for it but to abstain from the use of tobacco, and a few years ago the court physician advised the monarch to this effect, but without any very great hopes that his royal patient would act upon his advice. But King Humbert at once declared: "From this day I will not smoke another cigar!" And he has kept his promise to the letter. The state of his health has greatly improved in consequence.

A Lot of Cloth.

It is said on good authority that when the mills in Manchester, N. H., shut down the last time they had on hand about 64,000,000 yards of cloth, or enough to stretch a hand a yard wide around the world, with sufficient left over to form a magnificent driveway wide enough for three spans to drive abreast from New York to Tokyo.

The farmer who keeps bees plants buckwheat handy to the hives. He understands that to put flowers rich in honey where the bee can get them with least effort, means an increase in the quantity and quality of the honey garnered in the hives. It is on this principle that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery increases the quantity and quality of the nutrition of the body. The ingredients of this medicine are selected to furnish the blood and stomach with the essential materials for body building, in a concentrated and assimilable form. They make the conditions under which the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition must work, as easy as possible, and so reduce strain and waste. As the strength of the body is re-established disease is thrown off. It is due to this fact that persons with weak lungs, obstinate cough, bronchitis, and other diseases, which if neglected lead to consumption, find a complete cure by using "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best blood purifier that I ever used," writes Mrs. M. H. Barker, of Deuster, Oswego Co., N. Y. "It is about three years since my health began to fail. Last September I gave up entirely with what the physicians pronounced enlargement of the liver. My back pained me all the time; the doctor said I must not ride, in fact I could not lie on my right side. I commenced taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pelle's' took them for three months, and all the time the 'Pelle's' will be glad if I can say anything to help those who are suffering."

TO REGULATE ISSUE OF INJUNCTIONS

STATE BAR ASSOCIATION LIKE LY TO TAKE SOME ACTION.

Attorney Timlin Gives Mayor Rose and Attorney Ryan a Red Hot Roast in the Street Railway Injunction Case at Milwaukee—Uniform Bids on Grain.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 1.—At the next meeting of State Bar association an effort will be made to get the association to declare in favor of a stringent law to regulate the granting of injunctions. The meeting will be held at Madison, Feb. 12 and 13. The movement is for the purpose of a law defining in what kind of cases an injunction will lie and where it will not. One of the features of the proposed law will be that no court commissioner shall have power to issue injunctions.

Timlin Scores Rose and Ryan

Attorney William H. Timlin yesterday afternoon in the Superior court characterized Attorney Hugh Ryan as an assassin of character, and said that he had acted as messenger from Charles F. Pfister to ask him to name his price for a retainer in the interests of the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light company. These disclosures made by Mr. Timlin and an order by the court condemning as scandalous the affidavit of Mayor Rose presented Tuesday, were the two incidents of greatest interest during the day. Mr. Ryan, in reply, denied that he had acted as messenger from Mr. Pfister to Mr. Timlin.

Death of Milwaukee Pioneer.

Charles James, who came to Milwaukee in 1835, died at Thonnsville, Ga., today, from a stroke of paralysis. He went south several weeks ago to spend the winter, as has been his custom for the past eight years. Mr. James was eighty-eight years old, and a bachelor.

For Uniform Bids on Grain.

A meeting of the Wisconsin Grain Dealers' association was held yesterday afternoon in Milwaukee, and the election of President McIntyre was ratified. The members of the association are endeavoring to form a combination to make bids on grain on country track uniform.

Will Represent Whitewater Normal

Whitewater, Wis., Feb. 1.—Miss Clara Hargraves, who will represent the Whitewater State Normal school in the inter-normal contest at Milwaukee in March, won first place above six other contestants with an oration on "Savonarola." Her home is in Edgerton, where she graduated from the high school in 1897. She is now nineteen years old. During her junior year here she wrote a school poem entitled "The Song of the Normal." She is class poet of the senior class.

Capt. F. W. Gilman Dead

Milwaukee, Feb. 1.—Capt. F. W. Gilman, superintendent of the Goodrich Transportation company, and one of the most widely known and popular men on the lakes, died very suddenly of apoplexy on a Chicago & Northwestern train as it was approaching Manitowoc between 9 and 10 o'clock last evening.

Violated Child Labor Law.

Oshkosh, Wis., Feb. 1.—Three factory superintendents were arrested and fined today for violating the State Child Labor law. They are: G. Linderman of the Schmidt Brothers' Trunk company, William McDonald of the Morgan Lumber company, and William Currie of the Oshkosh Furniture company. This is the beginning of a systematic attempt to prevent child labor in Oshkosh factories.

Big Fire at Stevens Point

Stevens Point, Wis., Feb. 1.—At 1 o'clock this morning, with the thermometer 20 degrees below zero, Miss Amelia Stewart ran a block in her night dress and barefooted to give the alarm for a fire in the Masonic block. The building, which was occupied by Max Newald's department store, the Boston Furniture and Undertaking company, a number of offices and lodges, was completely destroyed. The loss exceeds $40,000; insurance, $25,250.

Saving the Trees in Paris.

From the New York Mail and Express: In order to save the beautiful trees which it is necessary to remove in constructing the buildings for the Paris exposition an ingenious method has been devised by the engineers in charge of the enterprise. Trees, roots and the surrounding earth, are inclosed in heavy plank bins built around them and are then bodily lifted into the air and kept suspended there until the excavations and building foundations are completed, when if there is room, the trees are let down into former positions. The plan has been found to work admirably and it is so simple and practical that it might be adopted wherever it is necessary to disturb trees in the course of building operations.

Natural Icehouse on a Farm.

Water constantly freezes in summer in a rocky crevice on the farm of John Dood, in Sweden Valley, Pa. Aside of this fact, with the intention of forming a natural icehouse, the owner tried to have a shaft sunk in the rocks. When the men had gone down fourteen feet the atmosphere became so densely cold that they had to cease work. Dripping water freezes there in a few minutes.

Blankets Shipped to Frankfort.

New Albany, Ind., Feb. 1.—On the telegraph order of Adjt. Gen. Collier of Kentucky the New Albany woolen mills shipped by express a carload of woolen blankets to Frankfort, Ky., for the use of the state militia.

The Boomerang.

The Australian aborigines are not the only users of the boomerang, nor were they the first to use that missile. The Egyptians knew all about it, just as they seem to have known all about everything else. At the present day the boomerang is used by some American Indian tribes and by the Dravidian races of the Indian peninsula. The missile used by the last named differs in that it is thicker than the usual form and does not return to the thrower. The return of the boomerang is due to the action of the wind, the shape of the weapon and the manner in which it is thrown.

So Long.

An English correspondent says the expression "so long" is the same as the "sa lange" of the Swedes, which corresponds to the "a tantot" of the French. "Sa lange" as pronounced by a Swede is almost identical, he says, with what you hear from a Northumbrian if you got him to say the English words "so long."—Chicago News.

First Thanksgiving Day in England.

Though Thanksgiving day is not now a national institution in England, special days of national thanksgiving have been from time to time appointed after great victories or other deliverances from national peril. The first of these days, which is the first day of national thanksgiving recorded in English history, was that celebrated on Sept. 8, 1538, after the destruction of the Spanish armada.

Arctic Dwellings.

The winter huts or igloos of the Eskimos are usually a half or more underground and finished above ground with stones, bones, turf and moss, and finally with ice and snow. Sometimes they are constructed of blocks of ice and compact snow, with transparent ice windows. The igloo is reached by a long, tunnel-like entrance, and is unventilated. The ordinary means of lighting and warming these huts is a large basin of oil, furnished with a moss wick. These basins are sculptured from soapstone or similar material. The oil is the product of the whale, seal, or other fish, or of the white bear, but usually the former.

A Detailed Map of Rock County . . .

Work is now in progress on a new wall map for Rock County. In size it will be 42x47 inches, mounted on cloth, and each township (of which there are twenty) will be neatly colored. The county will be represented on the scale of 1½ inches to the mile and will show the location of streams, lakes, cities, villages, school houses, churches, town houses and residences, public roads and railroads. It will also locate the farms, giving the number of acres and the name of the present owners wherever it is possible to do so. As fast as the drawings of the townships are completed they are verified so that the map will be as nearly correct as possible. The work will be of great value to business and professional men and farmers, and should find place in every school house in the county. The last wall map of the county was made a great many years ago, so that this new one will fill a long felt want.

The Price is $6.00.

Only enough of the Maps will be printed to fill orders. This fact should be borne in mind by those interested. Agents will begin the work of canvassing at once; orders may be given them and may also be sent to us in care of The Gazette office. If you will send in your name a representative will call and give more information if necessary.
